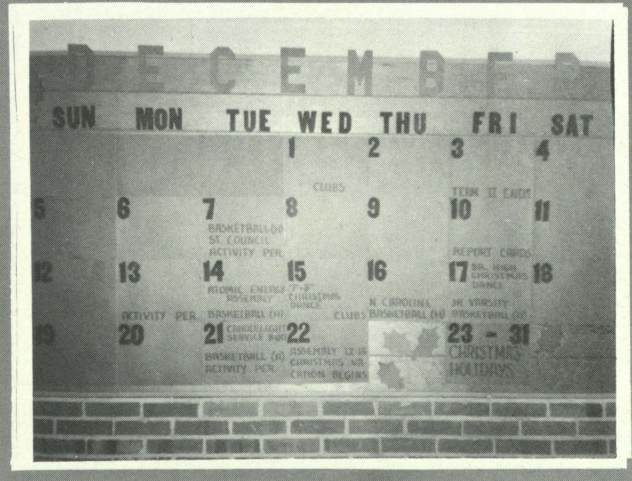
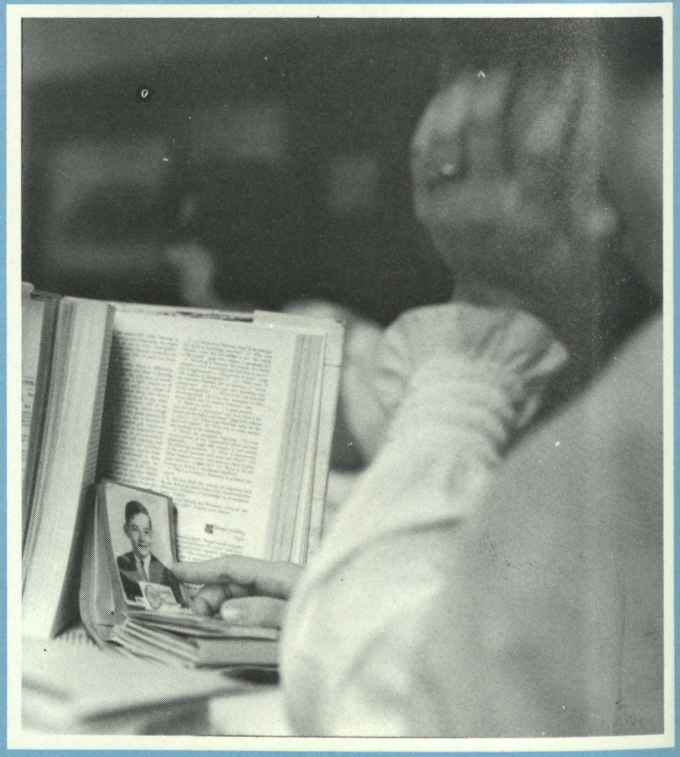
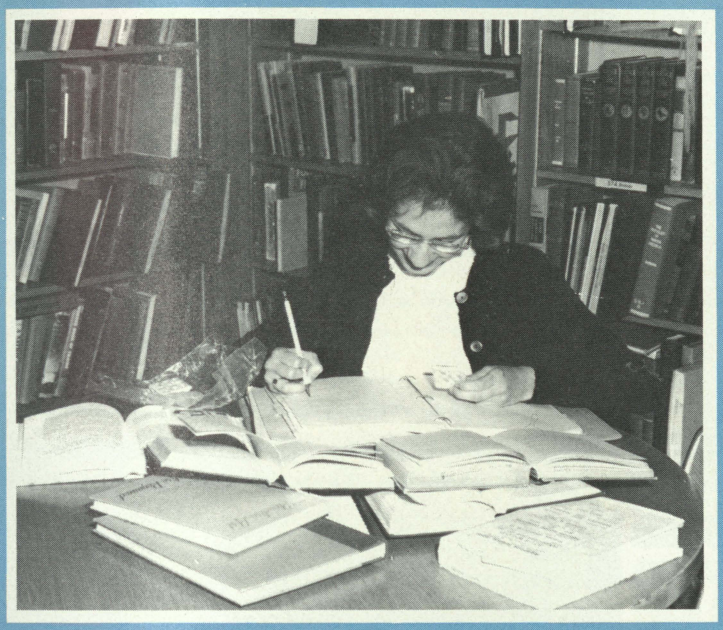
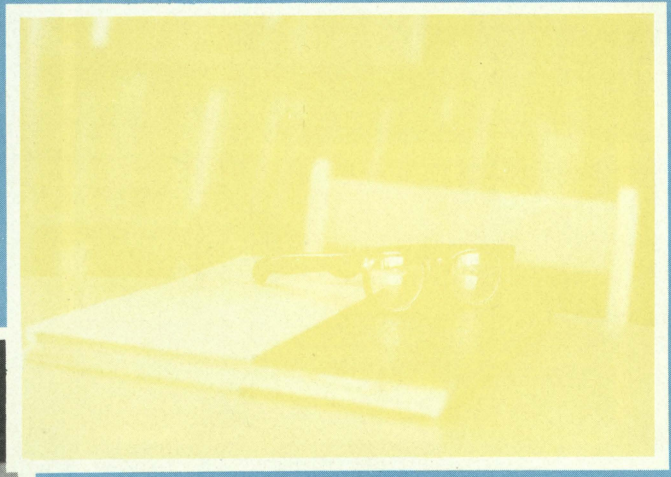
School begins again at ND - just as every other year. The subjects are the same, the aims are the same, classrooms are the same. But as in everything in life, there are changes. New students, new buildings, new teachers, modern concepts and methods--everywhere there are changes in pace with modern times. Still, basically people do not change; they only adjust themselves to life around them. Teacher instruction may bring interest--or boredom. Boy still meets girl; lunchtime is still the highlight of the day for many; and buses come and go, as do the students. New acquaintances bring lasting friendships; dedication takes many forms--All State Chorus, clerking in the bookstore, pledging loyalty to our nation, devoting time to the school band. Nine months--nine calendars and it's all over for another year, only to begin again in the fall - next year.

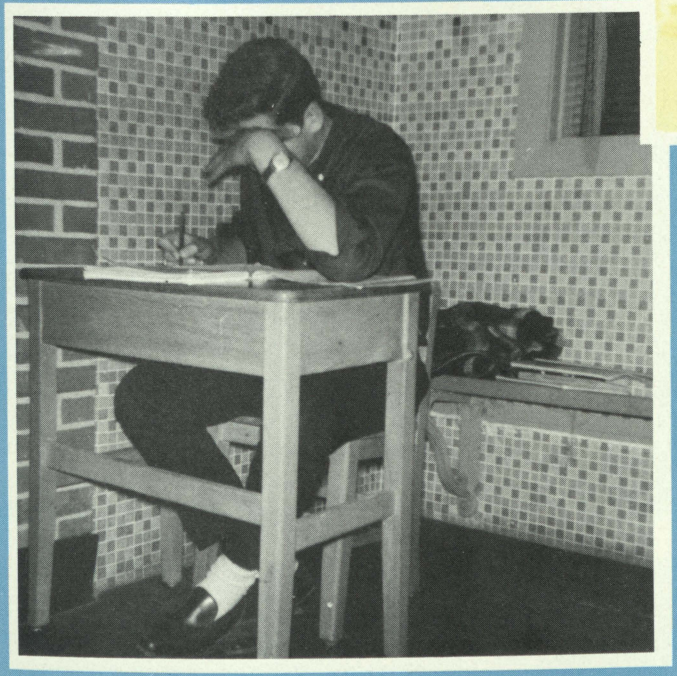


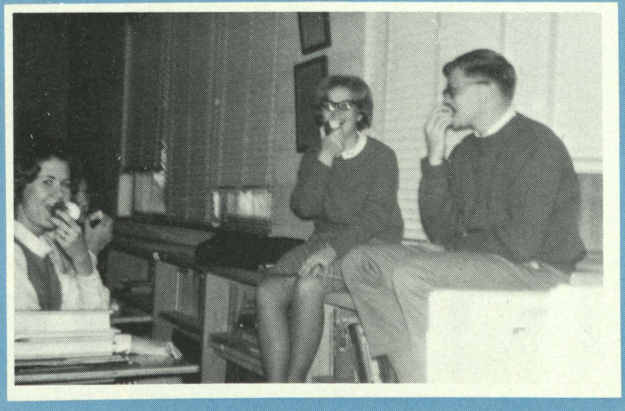


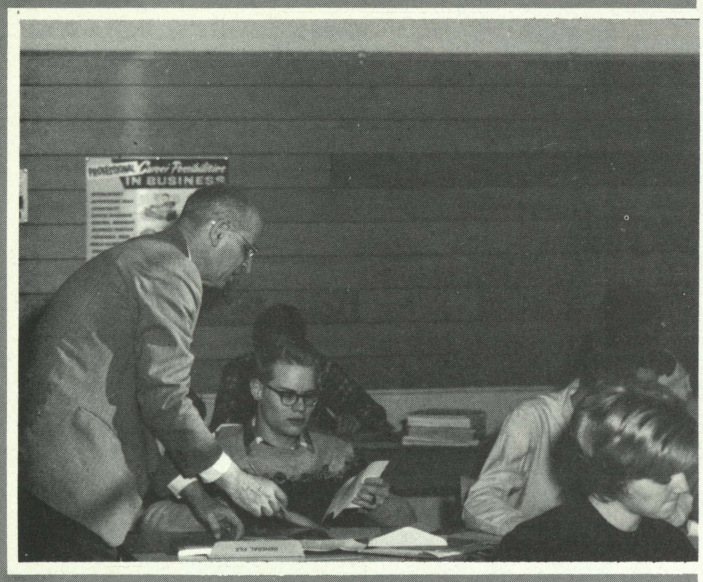


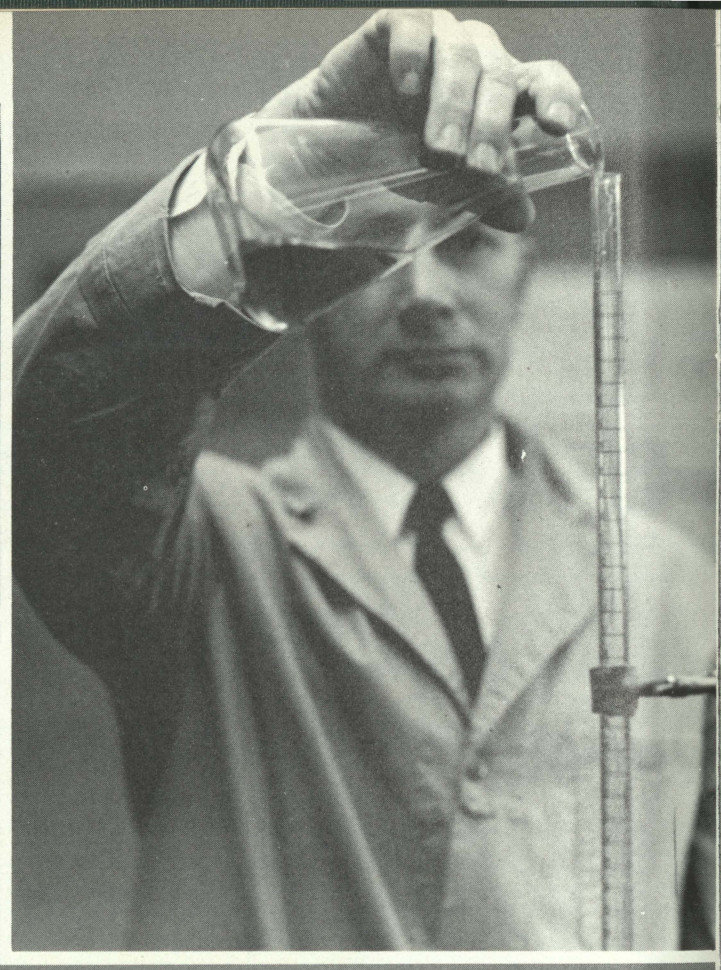
Reflections of a year past bring to mind the evening silence of an empty corridor, the pleasures of daydreaming when the classes become too . . ., the exasperation as term paper deadlines draw near, the responsibility of combining work and study, nourishment of the mind abandoned for the nourishment of the body, the envy of a boy for a shiny new car, a focus on learning and the will power of dieting. All this and more, we remember!











Teachers add to the daily routine of a school. Their thoughts and ideas help the students through another day. Teacher instruction reflects their collective knowledge on the students, broadening and enlarging their concepts and understandings. Relaxation when the daily routine seems too much to bear, chaperoning dances, classes that become funny that last period of the day, the joy in receiving that monthly pay check, and displaying personal talents -- all in all the school life of a teacher is much like that of a student.

PREFACE

The KENEU staff of 1966 wishes to bring to the public our "book of memories" for this past school year. This book was organized and published with the public interest in mind.

In order to relive these memories we have chosen "Reflections" as our theme. Our intention is to reflect the highlights, the good and the bad memories of the past year. It is impossible to even attempt to reflect all the events, but we feel we have chosen some of the most interesting and outstanding. As you skim or thoughtfully pass through our book, we hope that you may relive these days in your own personal way.

The memories of school dances, assemblies, classes, lunch hours, the senior class play, graduation and many other moments will bring back the high school days of many seniors. But this book isn't meant for the seniors alone; it is our wish that it will be enjoyed and treasured in years to come by each and every one.

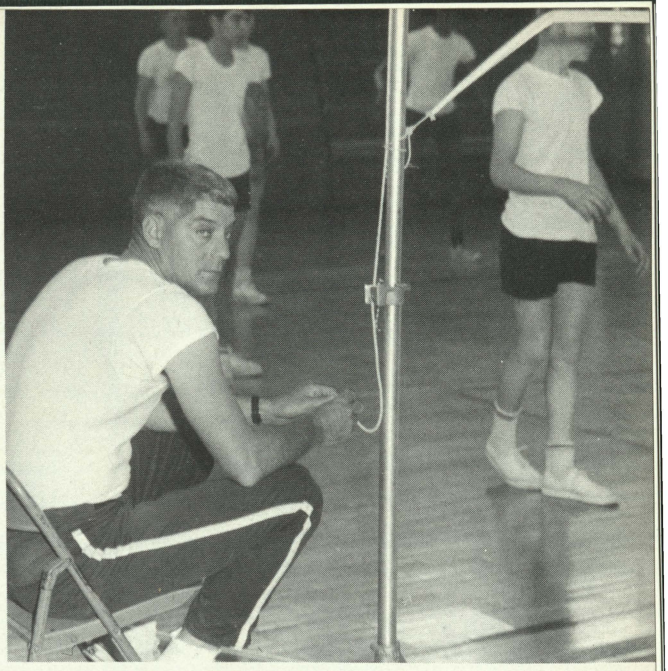
Miss Kathy Pierce, Mr. Randolph Hock and Mrs. Joan Barnes, seniors at Salisbury State College, did their student teaching for eight weeks at N. D. and were impressed by its attractiveness and its friendly people. Being welcomed to N. D. by Mr. S. G. Tyler are Mrs. Claudia Hudson, Miss Marilyn Russell and Mr. James Stallings, also student teachers from Salisbury State College. Mr. Ray Moore, Vice-Principal, informs students and teachers of the day's events and schedule changes at N. D. Mr. Moore, a familiar face at N. D. for many years, has perhaps an even more familiar voice due to his daily "newscasts". Mr. John Keplinger, Jr., English teacher and senior class play sponsor, serves as makeup artist for the cast of "Meet A Body", the successful 1965-66 senior play. Acquiring faces to match their parts are Larry Higgins and Roland Bradley.

Mr. William Hopkins, physical education instructor, does the officiating as spirited 10th grade athletes battle for victory in a spring volleyball session. Boys are also offered touch football, basketball, stunts and tumbling, and softball as part of the course. Mrs. Pat Hopkins, girls varsity sports coach, calls timeout to plan new strategy with the '65-66 first string basketball team as their teammates watch interestedly from the sidelines. Mr. T. H. Maguire, industrial arts instructor, measures a piece of work done by 10A student Howard Blake. Students are provided with experience in a variety of skills in the shop. Adding color to the streets in Hurlock in the annual Christmas parade is the North Dorchester High School Band, led by Mrs. Elsie Baynard. The band also plays at football games, assemblies, commencement and in several concerts with the glee club, as well as participating in parades.



Teachers Offer Guidance.

Staff works for benefit of Students.

The cafeteria staff - Mrs. Todd, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Marine, Mrs. Vaughn, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Hackett - provides over 500 students with a varied and balanced menu daily. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn, performing janitorial and ground maintenance duties, have kept the school clean and beautiful for many years. Mrs. Nancy Trego, school secretary, handles clerical work in the office, assisting Mr. Tyler and Mr. Moore. Mrs. Isabel Farnell, school nurse, treats N.D.'s illnesses once a week in the health room.

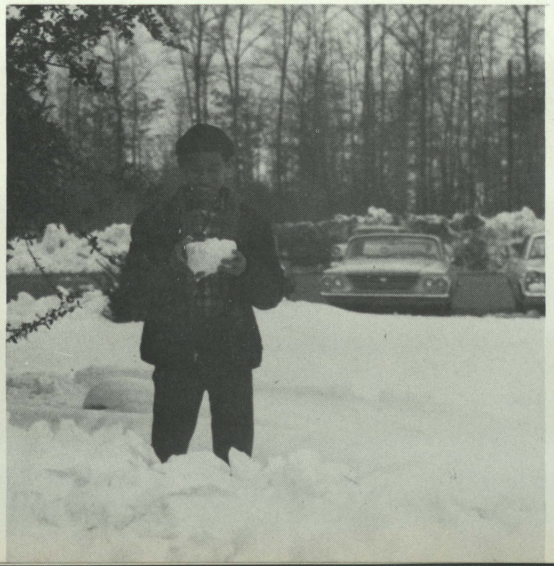
NOI ACQUAINTS N.D. WITH THE ORIENT

ND's third exchange student, Surapong "Noi" Srisiri, brought the atmosphere of the Orient to our school. Noi, a native of equatorial Thailand, encountered many new experiences, including his first glimpse of snow, speaking before such groups as The Hurlock Lions Club, and the AFS Assembly. His activities included the ND Band and JV basketball. He was also given a birthday party by his American parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Murphy, for his 17th birthday. Noi says his most memorable experience has been living in a democracy.



WE ARE NOT SPIRITS OF THE PAST, BUT PIONEERS OF THE FUTURE.

CLUBS

and power of unity.

Volume XII of the Eagle this year, under the editorship of George Sellers, and the supervision of Mr. William Wheatley, won first place in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Presenting the news interestingly, relating personal facts of various prominent individuals, and reflecting the views of the students, constituted the hard work of producing a school paper.

Members of the journalism class which makes up the staffs of the Eagle and Keneu viewed the make-up and printing of a daily newspaper of the county, also.

Co-editors Pat Harrington and Karen Lankford worked with their staff and Mrs. Bradley, faculty advisor, to produce the KENEU, a publication of memorable highlights of the year.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, under the supervision of Mr. Robert Vincent, is organized to promote better relations between students and faculty by allowing the students to voice their opinions concerning the school.

The activities of the year began with the 'Back to School Dance' in September. Later the Hockey Team challenged the Football Team to a game of hockey, which proved to be an afternoon of fun and humor. A Powderpuff Football Game between the junior and senior girls heightened the spirit of the student body as they cheered for the team of their choice. The varsity basketball team met the Faculty in a fun-filled game of basketball.

This year, money was set aside for gym curtains which was a project of the Student Council. Although the curtains have not been purchased, it is hoped that next year's Council will carry out the project.

In the spring a meeting of the Lower Shore Association of the Student Councils was carried on at N. D. The meeting was led by the Lower Shore President who led discussions with a luncheon as the climax of the meetings.

These activities served as fund raisers as well as entertainment.

SCHOOL SPIRIT COMMITTEE

The School Spirit Committee, a standing committee of the Honor Society, worked to promote enthusiasm in the student body. Under the leadership of Mrs. Wheatley, the committee created monthly calendars relating school events of the month.

A monthly attendance chart was also kept by the committee and posted in the cafeteria. The purpose of this committee is to promote school spirit, but this cannot be accomplished without the full support of the student body.

CHEERLEADERS SUPPORT N.D.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Shirley McCulley and Mrs. Margaret Hubbard, the cheerleaders of N. D. promote school spirit at games and pep rallies. Karen Lankford, captain of the varsity cheerleaders, has the responsibility of organizing and leading the cheers. Next year for the first time, four girls will be sent to cheerleading camp in order to learn new cheers and improve their skill in cheering.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hopkins sponsor the girl and boy intramural program. The club is organized for those students interested, in grades 7-9. The sponsors should be commended for their emphasis on sportsmanship as well as recognizing the skill in the Junior High grades.

Eaglettes have winning

Phyllis Adams blocks a drive attempt by an Easton opponent.

The 1965 hockey season proved to be quite exciting and interesting for the N.D. lassies. Mrs. Pat Hopkins, after an absence for 6 years, returned to guide N. D.'s girls to another successful season. Although several positions were left open by last year's seniors, the Eaglettes lost only three of nine games.

Future N. D. hockey teams will long remember this year. It has built up enthusiasm and spirit among students and has shown that it doesn't take a large student body to have a winning team, only hard work and a little encouragement from the students who are not participating in the game.

ND's lassies, suffering from the loss of four first string players, came up on the short end of a 2-8 log. With only two starters returning from last year, the Eaglettes found it hard to overcome their more experienced opponents.

Coach Pat Hopkins started the rebuilding process this year by having at least half of her team composed of freshmen and sophomores. Whenever the opportunity arose, Coach Hopkins would give her "benchwarmers" a chance to play, thus improving their skills and game experience.

With only four seniors (Dolores Moore, Tracey Hallowell, Bonnie Marine and Teresa Spence as pictured at right) leaving this year, the next few years should prove to be exciting and more hopeful for the young lassies.

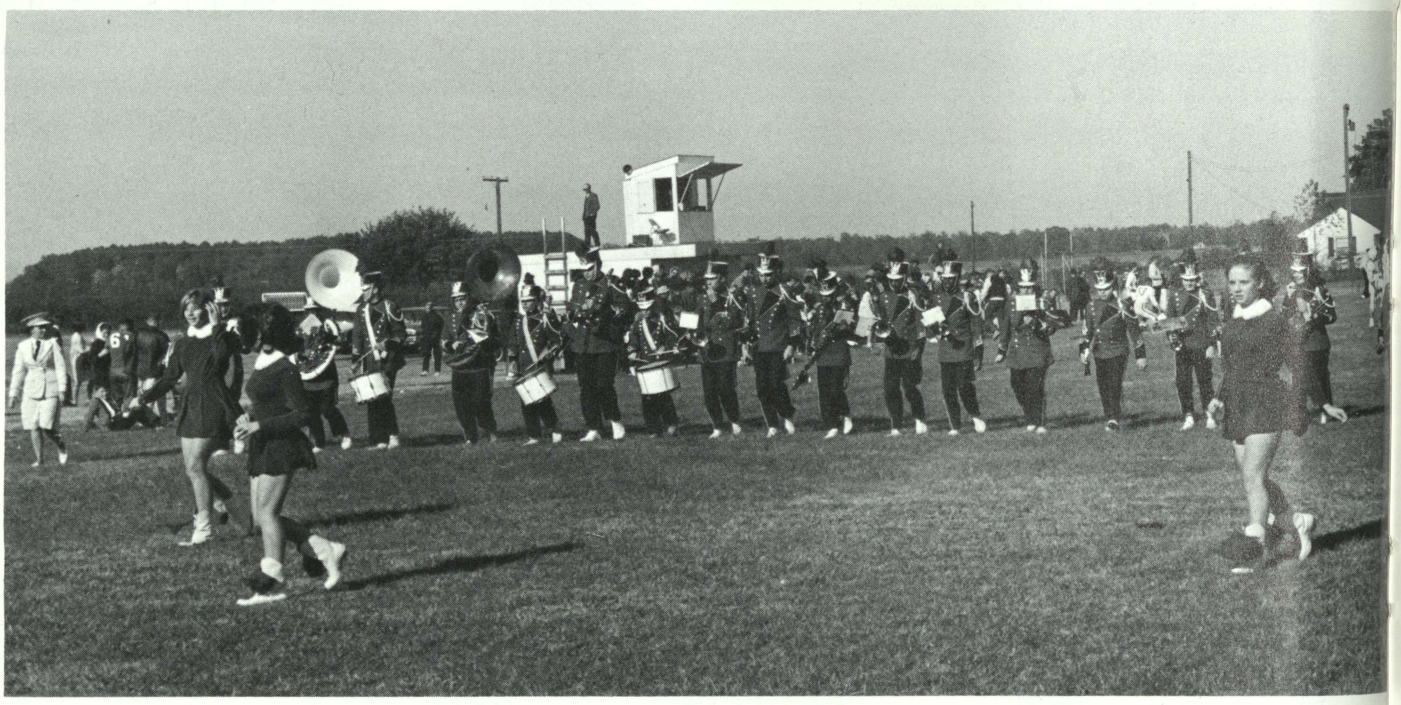
. . . reflections of happy times, thrilling times, tense moments, sentimental moments in an action-packed year.



Halftime musical entertainment was presented by the N. D. Band, conducted by Mrs. Frank Baynard.

Homecoming festivities took place this November 1, 1965, at the last home game of the football season. Highlighting the day were the crowning of the queen and half time ceremonies, a tribute to the fathers of the N. D. Eagles, a pancake supper following the game, and a Football - Homecoming Dance that evening. Football-Homecoming Queen was Susan Brohawn, a senior, elected queen by team members. The queen's court consisted of Dorothy Tobat, Judy Forester, Phillis Adams, and Rosemary Banks. The girls were nominated by Senior team members and escorted during half time crowning ceremonies by Steve Kukta, Lynn Wright, Tom Tobat, Jerry Richardson, and Billy Mills. Susan was crowned by last years' queen, Sharon Todd.

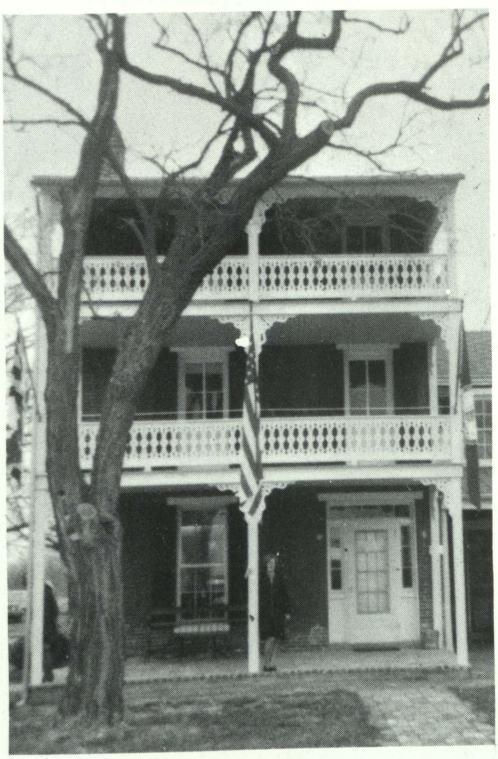
Fun Enlivens the year at N.D.

In the Powder Puff Football game the girls play football instead of boys. The opposing teams are the junior girls and senior girls. The seniors won 7-0.

In a later "mis-match" the boys played the girls hockey team.

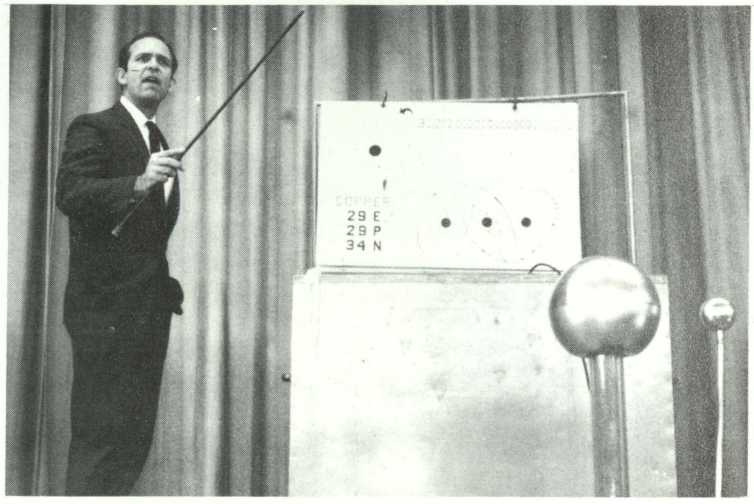
The annual Quill and Scroll Banquet, at which the new members of the Quill and Scroll were initiated, was held at Stant's Restaurant in Mardela in October and again in March. I.H. S.H.S.J., International Honor Society for High School Journalist, is sponsored by Mrs. Sylvia Bradley and Mr. William Wheatley. At the November banquet were Mr. Wheatley, George Sellers, Gail Watkins, Phillis Adams, Charlene Squires, Teresa Spence, Larry Higgins, Jerry Richardson, Rex Richardson, Bonnie Marine and Mrs. Bradley.

The new members, shown in their initiating garb, which they were required to wear for a week, are (seated): Connie Boog, Shirley English, Christine Auld, Pat Harrington, Dennis Russell, Rosemary Dilworth, Connie Hickman, and Connie Wright. These were the last new members to be initiated this school year.



The Marine Museum at St. Micheals, left, and Wye Church at Wye Mills, below, were two of the stops made on the History Club's trip to Talbot County. Also visited that day were Friends Meeting House, Easton and historic Oxford, Maryland. Highlight of the year was undoubtedly the trip to Jamestown and Williamsburg, Va. in March. Tours of the craft shop, Wythe House, the Governor's Mansion, and the Capitol were included.

The year's most outstanding speaker was Mr. Yearout who spoke on teenagers in today's world. He is now in the process of touring the U.S. and speaking on his trips to Europe.



Assemblies were best

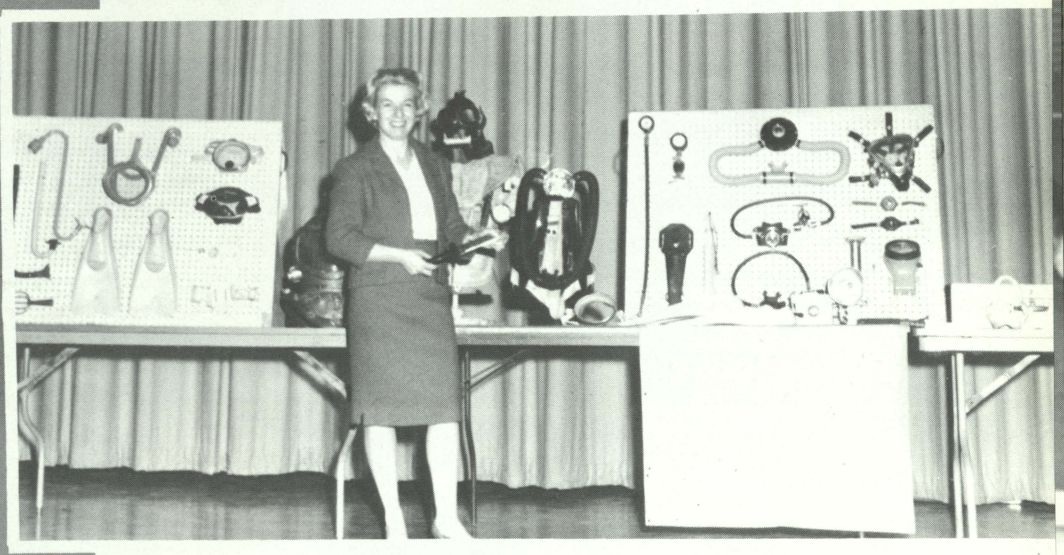
The assemblies this school year included: Mr. Paul Yearout, one of the best speakers ever presented to N.D., in the opinion of many students; Mr. Carl Rice, who gave a demonstration in electrostatics; the St. Mary's Players, or Samadra; an exhibition by the National Table Tennis Champions; Mrs. Jean Kauanui, an expert skin and scuba diver; and the Student Council election campaign speeches.

This year, for the first time, students of the Month were selected for their outstanding school participation. Every month each one had a showcase display in A building and an article in the EAGLE.

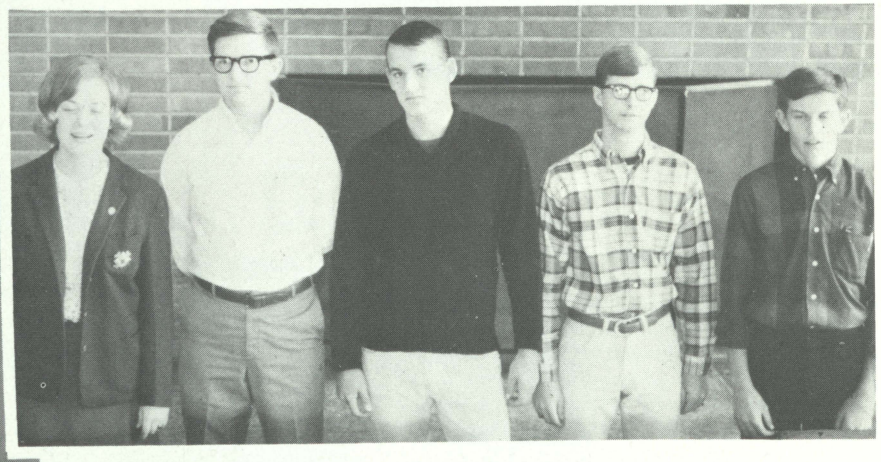
Three dramatic presentations were given by the drama troupe from St. Mary's College. A scene from "The Valiant" is shown below.

Mr. Carl Rice, left, displayed the fundamentals of electrostatics, which proved to be very shocking -especially for Linda Brohawn!

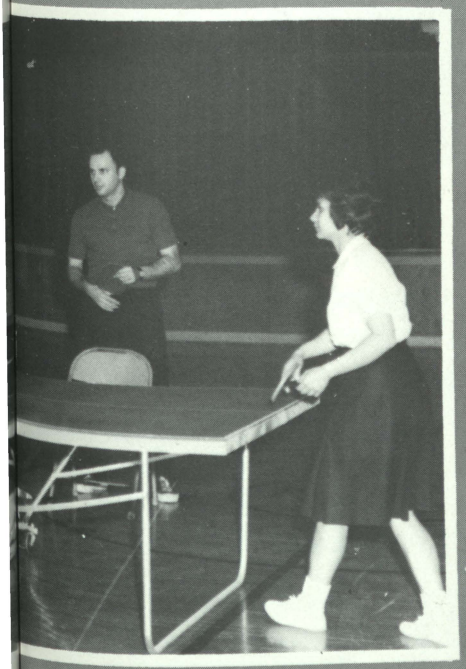
Right, Mrs. Jean Kauanui, experienced skin and scuba diver, spoke about the equipment used in diving and its importance.



ever in '65-'66!



Students-of-the-Month were as follows: Pat Harrington, George Sellers, Dennis Dean, Tommy Binebrink, and Douglas Fleetwood.

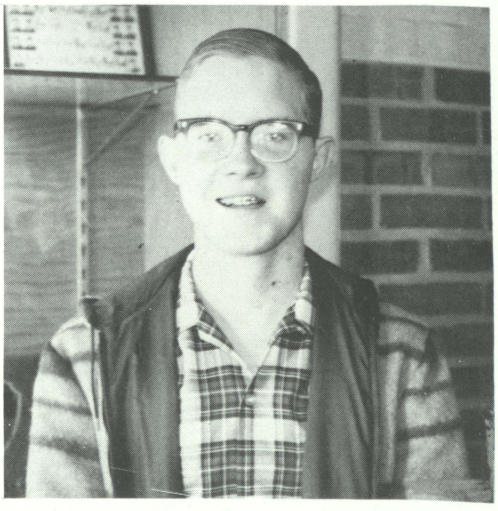


Student Council elections were held for officers for 1966-67. Joe Layton, above, present Student Council President, spoke to the students on the importance of voting wisely.

Left, the National Table Tennis champions displayed their technique to Mr. Wheatley as well as the audience.

Honors are Given

Two contestants in the local Oratorical Contest, sponsored by the American Legion, were Connie Hickman and Karen Marine, left. Connie Hickman won the local award and received a $25 savings bond.



Charlene Squires, above, won a scholarship for summer study in Latin America. Mike Corkran, left, was the winner of the Senate Youth Program.

Barry Milligan, Wanda Griffith and Shirley Bell were the winners in the Christmas card campaign, sponsored by the "Eagle Staff."

To Students and Parents.

The P. T. A. held their election of officers for next year. The elected are as follows: (standing L-R), President-Willis Smith, Second Vice-President-Winfield Trice, Recording Secretary-Mrs. John Rahe, and Treasurer -Mrs. Harold Richardson. Missing are First Vice-President-David Winslow and Corresponding Secretary-Mrs. Jean North.

Barbara Murphy, Janet Eskridge and Kirk Hurley were the winners in the magazine campaign. The magazines were sold by 7-9 graders, sponsored by Mrs. Marian Turner.

Students Gymnastic

The annual Gym Show was a big success as an athletic gathering for the N.D. students and parents. Stunts and entertainment were performed by the various classes. Displaying the wide variety of skills and abilities they had learned in physical education classes all school year, all the performers and performances were most outstanding in their poise and dexterity.

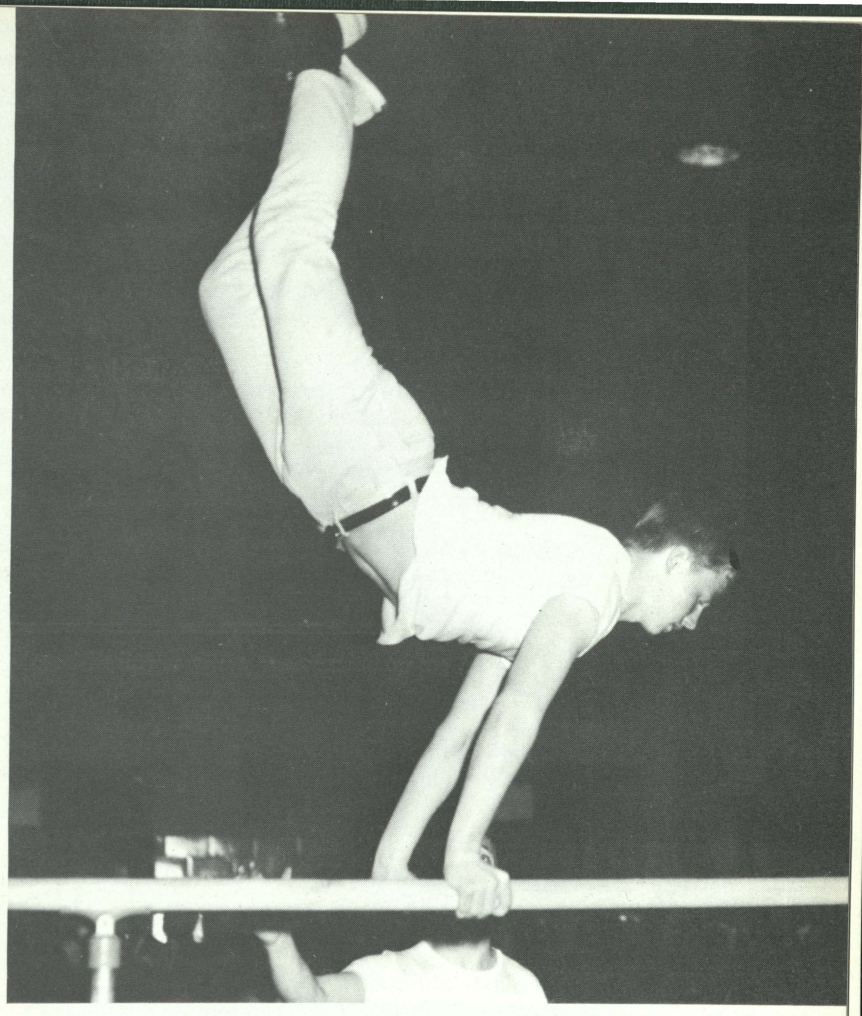
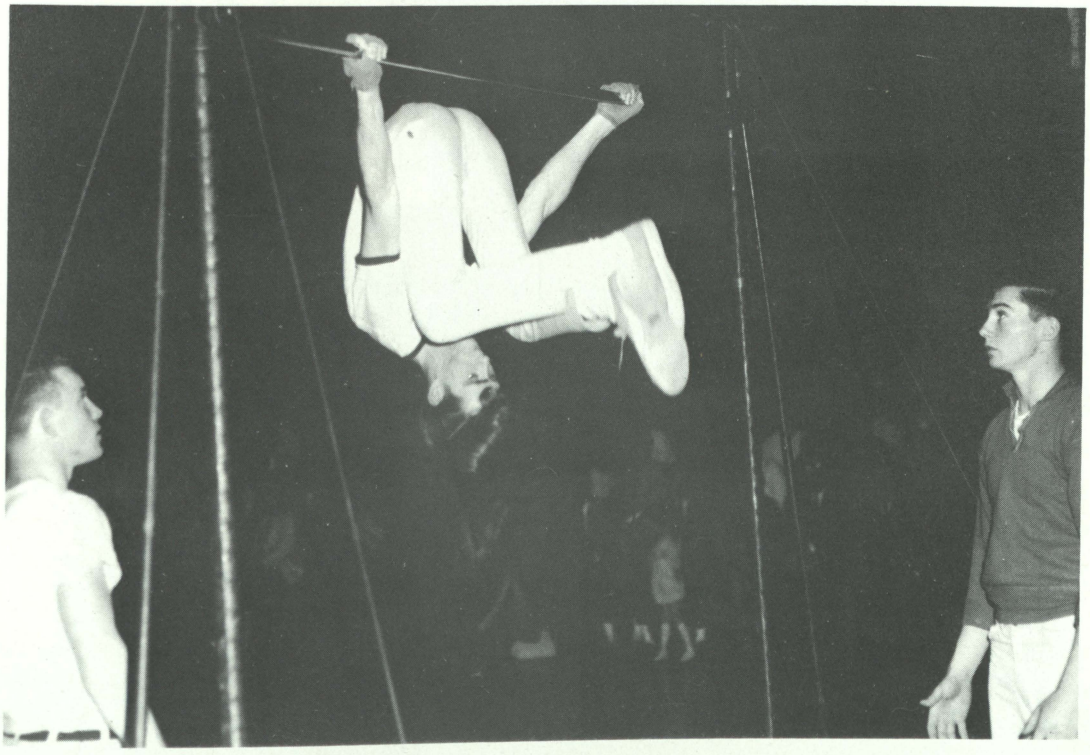
Demonstrate Skills.

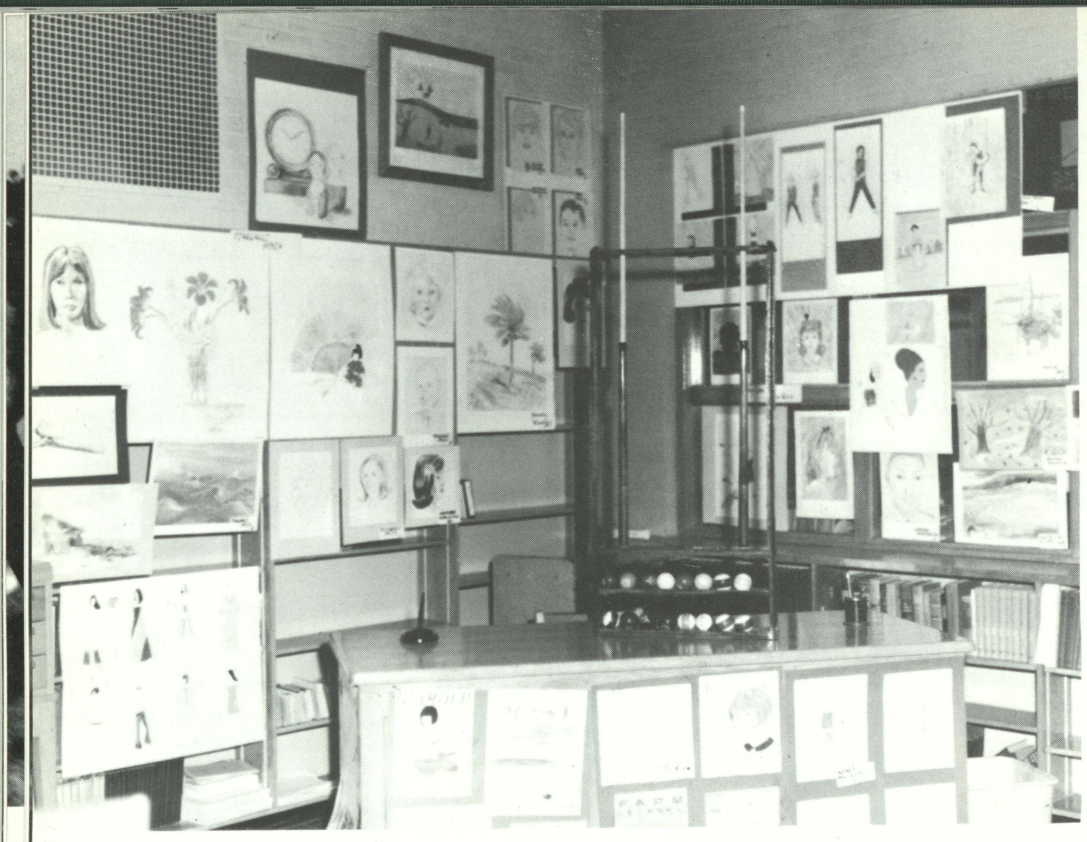
Held in March this year, the show included stunts on the high bar and parallel bars, the trampoline, and matwork. One of the real high points of the evening was a flashlight routine entitled "In the Dark". This featured Juniors and Seniors in close order gymnastic drill. Master of Ceremonies for the show was Mr. William Wheatley and show directors were Mr. and Mrs. William Hopkins, physical education instructors.



Billy Henry performs a difficult hand stand on the parallel bars.



Tommy Binebrink entertains with a dislocation on the high bar.



North Dorchester students' artistic talents went on display at the last PTA meeting in April. An exhibit of arts and crafts made in the art, home economics, and industrial arts departments were displayed in the library and a fashion show was held in the cafeteria. A few samples of art work are shown at left, including a special showing by ninth grader Margaret Smith. At the Dorchester County Art Show in Cambridge Margaret won third prize in the student division while Steve Kennedy won second prize and Terry Crannell won honorable mention. At right, Linda Pugh models a suit she made in home ec. class. The items at far right were made in industrial arts class.

Arts and Crafts and Beauty (?) on Parade

A Womanless Miss America Pageant was held at North Dorchester in April, 1966. Sponsored by the Hurlock Lions Club, the show was a rollicking good time for one and all. Mr. William Wheatley, at left, was one of the participants; first place went to another ND faculty member, Bill Naugle as Miss New York: The bevy of beauties pictured below were more of the contestants.

Queen Karen reigns over FFA Sweetheart Dance.

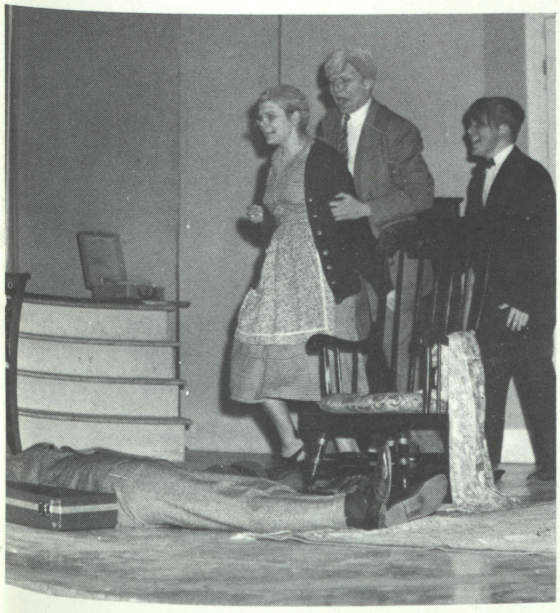
"Meet A Body in fact, 5 bodies!"

On Feb. 17-18, 1966 the Senior class presented a three act comedy-mystery entitled "Meet a Body". Directors were Karen Lankford, Connie Hickman, and Mr. John Keplinger, advisor. A big success at the box office, it also proved to be lots of fun for audience and cast alike. Scenes from the play are shown at right and below.



Joe Layton and Karen Lankford, above, were voted Mr. and Miss School Spirit of 1966 by the student body.

Delegates to Girls' and Boys' State were Teresa Spence and Larry Higgins, shown above with Mr. Hurley. Also attending were Jerry Richardson, Steve Kukta, Rex Richardson, Ruth Willoughby, and Gail Watkins.

Hard Work Rewarding.

Students receiving scholarships for their scholastic achievement are: (at right, L to R): Jerry Richardson to the University of Maryland; Joe Layton, also to the University of Maryland; Phillis Adams to Notre Dame of Maryland; and Larry Higgins to University of Maryland.

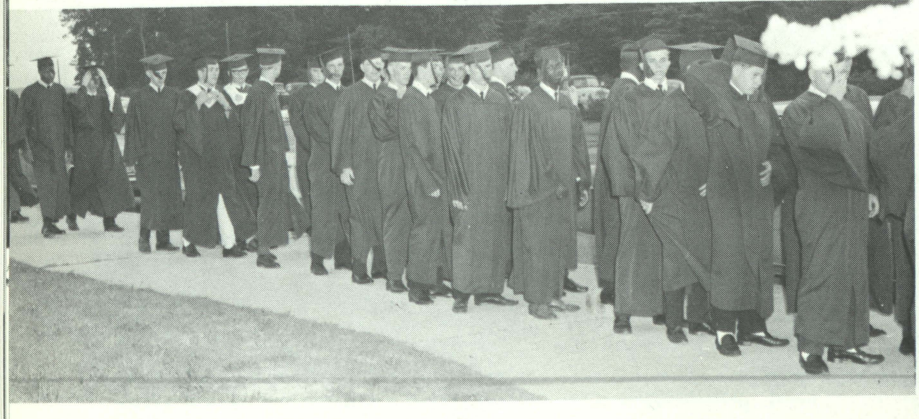
At Last . . .



. . . The Final Step

As the class of 1966 filed into the North Dorchester Gymnasium on June 7, they were taking their 'last step' in their high school life. The pictures on these two pages reflect the sadness and happiness with which the 71 seniors reached this point in their lives. Rex Richardson, class president, opened the exercises with the welcoming speech.

Mr. Charles Hurley, former N.D. principal, was the speaker for the evening. "Decisions, not consequences will rule your lives," was the basis for Mr. Hurley's speech.

After the presentation of diplomas and awards, the salutatory address was given by Joe Layton, followed by the valedictory address given by Jerry Richardson. Thus ends the final chapter in the high school career.

Baccalaureate Exercises, held on June 5, in the school gymnasium brought us one step closer to the end. The Rev. Robert Hiltman of Cambridge, Maryland was the guest speaker. The school Glee Club and Mr. John Keplinger, N.D.'s English teacher, sang several selections.

On June 6 the annual class night was held, bringing enjoyment and fond memories to all who attended. The "highlight" of the night was a surprise skit put on by the teachers imitating our class. Class members read the class history and will and presented gifts to the Seniors. They also entertained with satiric skits and dances.

Our final step was taken on June 7 when we walked down the isle to receive our diplomas. Mr. Busick, aided by Mr. Tyler, presented them to 71 anxious, even if somewhat tearful, Seniors. Mr. Tyler then presented awards to deserving seniors. Receiving recognition were George Sellers, Balfour Award; Jerry Richardson, Lions Club Award; Lewis Rideout and Teresa Spence, Athletic Awards; Joe Layton, Salutatory Award; Jerry Richardson, Valedictory Award (AT RIGHT); Shirley English, Larry Higgins, Sons of Amer. Rev. Awards; Pat Harrington, DAR Citizenship Award; Joe Layton, Dekalb Award; Bonnie Marine, Rex Richardson, Amer. Legion Awards; Karen Lankford, Commercial Award.
